Love Sky

Lovely and sweet warm smiles rise through the air as if weightless.
rising through a heaven which bears no name.
While you walk to me in my life.

In a late afternoon’s day,
simply just gazing at beautiful birds
Extending their wings to a lovely sky.
I can’t help but think of you now.

The simple sweet air surrounds
those who take flight on those beautiful days.
Your smile is where my heart will take flight today
because you’re my wings that will fly.

I’ll take you away someday,
to fly through the sky that does not have a name.
Just to fly through the simple and sweet warm air that is all the love in my heart.

By Chris Garrido