

OCLC WorldCat

OCLC WorldCat (the Washington State version is also known as Wayfinder) is an online catalog containing 110 million records for books, videos, magazines, etc. held in over 50,000 libraries worldwide. EvCC students and employees can borrow books from other libraries listed on WorldCat through an online form (see details below) or by filling out a print form available from the reference librarian.

To access WorldCat, go to the library homepage <http://www.everettcc.edu/depts/library/> and click on the link to WorldCat under Other Library Catalogs. From off-campus, you will be prompted to enter your EvCC student or staff ID number.

Search Screen

The screenshot shows the Wayfinder WorldCat Advanced Search interface. At the top, there is a green header with the Wayfinder logo and a link to "Return to EvCC Library". Below the header, there are navigation tabs: Home, Databases, Searching (active), Results, and Resource Sharing. There are also links for Staff View, My Account, Options, Comments, Exit, and Hide tips. The main search area includes a "Search in database:" dropdown set to "WorldCat" (Updated: 2008-09-19) with a description: "OCLC catalog of books and other materials in libraries worldwide". The "Search for:" field contains "food" and the dropdown is set to "Title". Below this are two more search rows with "and" dropdowns and "Keyword" dropdowns. The "Limit to:" section includes fields for "Year" (format: YYYY-YYYY), "Language" (set to "No Limit" with a "show all languages ..." link), and "Number of Libraries" (set to "All"). At the bottom, there are checkboxes for "Books" (checked), "Serial Publications", and "Articles". Two callout boxes provide instructions: one points to the search field and dropdown with the text "Enter an author, title, or subject and change pull-down menu to appropriate field", and another points to the "Limit to:" section with the text "Limits are useful when searching this large database".
