

GENERAL INFORMATION

You may pursue a major in Elementary Education by following this Associate in Arts and Sciences - DTA transfer degree guide in Elementary Education. With this degree, you will have completed most or all of the lower division, general education requirements typically required within a bachelor's degree.

Since every college or university may have different requirements for entering and completing a teacher certification program, you are advised to pay special attention to the recommendations in this guide, and to contact advisors at EvCC and at the intended university.

CAREER OPTIONS

A background in elementary education opens many doors to employment opportunities. Obvious places for those with a degree in elementary education are teaching positions in both public and private schools. Other options involve specialties such as guidance counseling, school social work, library science, and administration. Check with the Counseling, Advising & Career Center, Third Floor, Parks, for additional information on career options and considerations. You can also find information from the Occupational Outlook Handbook at:

It provides education students with information regarding a teaching career. You might even earn service learning credit sharing ideas and planning TOT activities.
