

GENERAL INFORMATION

EvCC offers the first two years of coursework toward a major in Psychology, or a related social science, such as counseling or social welfare, at a university. You can enjoy the benefits of smaller classes (and lower tuition) by beginning your college study at a community college and then transferring to a university.

At EvCC, students interested in Psychology are encouraged to pursue the Associate in Arts and Sciences - DTA.

This degree meets statewide guidelines for smooth transfer to most of Washington's colleges and universities, and several in Oregon. With this degree, you will have completed most or all of the lower division, general education requirements typically required within a bachelor's degree. The complete description of this degree program, with a checklist, is provided in the Associate in Arts and Sciences Direct Transfer Guide. A specific checklist for a Psychology major is on the reverse side.

We encourage you to review the catalogs and Psychology departments of a variety of colleges and universities. In reviewing the catalogs you will discover if special courses should be taken in the first and second year, in order to prepare for entering the major as a Junior. In many cases, first and second year courses that are prerequisites for the major may be taken within the AAS-Option II degree plan. Please work with an advisor to map out a plan that is best for you. EvCC's Psychology advisors are listed to the right.

CAREER OPTIONS

Psychologists study the human mind and human behavior. Research psychologists investigate the physical, cognitive, emotional, or social aspects of human behavior. Psychologists in applied fields provide mental health care in hospitals, clinics, schools, or private settings.

Psychologists apply their knowledge to a wide range of endeavors, including health and human services, computer science, management, education, law, and sports. In addition to a variety of work settings, psychologists usually specialize in one of a number of different areas. Clinical psychologists usually work in counseling centers, independent or group practices, hospitals, or clinics. They help mentally and emotionally disturbed clients adjust to life and may help medical and surgical patients deal with illnesses or injuries.

Other fields in psychology include health, psychobiology, counseling, school counselor, organizational and developmental psychology, to name a few. Typically, the field of psychology requires at least a Master's degree, and sometimes a Ph.D., in order to pursue a professional career.

Employment may be found in clinics, social service agencies, business and industry, schools and universities, hospitals, corrections, and government services. Many psychologists are self-employed with their own private practice.

Associate in Arts and Sciences – Direct Transfer

This checklist is designed for transfer students with an interest in PSYCHOLOGY. It should be maintained by the student while at Everett Community College. The quarter before expected completion, this checklist should be submitted by the student, with a diploma application, to the Enrollment Services Office. This checklist refers to requirements listed in the curriculum guide titled “Associate in Arts and Sciences – Direct Transfer”, which lists all the courses which are approved for the various categories of requirements. Note: Though courses in a foreign language are not required in the Direct Transfer degree, some universities may require two or three quarters of foreign language for admission or for graduation.

Courses listed with an ampersand in the course number (e.g. ENGL&101) reflect the Common Course Numbering System.
