

Guide to Articulation (Transfer) Agreements

This Guide provides information about the wide variety of transfer and articulation agreements between Everett Community College and other colleges and universities. The agreements are formed to help students transfer to or from Everett Community College. Please work with an advisor.

In general, there are two types of university transfer options for EvCC graduates.

1. Everett Community College offers several associate degrees that are focused on transferability to universities:
 - Associate in Arts and Sciences-DTA (AAS-DTA) (formerly known as AAS Option II)
 - Associate in Business (AB)
 - Associate of Applied Science – Transfer (AAS-T)
 - Associate in Technology- DTA
 - Associate of Science DTA/MRP (AS)
 - Associate in Pre-Nursing (DTA/MRP)

A. Most universities in Washington have formally agreed to take these degrees as a “package” that meets most or all of the lower division general education requirements at the university. These agreements follow guidelines issued by the Washington Intercollege Relations Commission \(ICRC\).

B. Under Intercollege Relations Commission Guidelines, students who earn the AAS-DTA degree and meet the minimum grade point average required by the transfer institution will have completed the lower division general education requirements and can usually transfer with Junior standing to :

Bastyr University	Heritage University	St. Martin’s University
Central Washington Univ	Northwest University	University of Washington
Cornish College of Arts	Pacific Lutheran Univ	Washington State Univ
Eastern Washington Univ	Seattle Pacific University	Western Washington Univ
The Evergreen State Coll	Seattle University	Whitworth College
Gonzaga University

- C. Some of these degrees are formulated to include prerequisites for some specialized majors, such as business, engineering, and some sciences.
 - D. Some of the colleges and universities not aligned with ICRC have also entered into transfer agreements with Everett Community College for students who have these degrees. These agreements are listed in the chart on the next several pages.
2. Several other associate degrees at EvCC have limited transferability, though in some cases there is an explicit transfer pathway as outlined in an agreement with an institution listed in the chart on the next several pages.
- Associate in Arts and Sciences -Option I (AAS-I)
 - Associate in Fine Arts (AFA)
 - Associate in Technical Arts (ATA)
 - Associate in General Studies (AGS)

Checklist of Current Agreements

- This list is dynamic and updated periodically. Inclusion in this list does not guarantee that the stated or implied action will occur. Contact the Admissions Office at your destination university to inquire about admission and transfer credit.
